

2017 PRESCHOOL & KINDERGARTEN

MUSIC

\ The Travelling Troubadour - Kim Cunio* - Listen to the story of a man who travelled the world looking for his guitar and found lots of talking instruments on the way. Children will see everything from recorders and drums to exciting instruments from Africa, Europe, the Middle East and India. Instruments: Medieval hurdy-gurdy, recorder, Psaltery, Central European tarogato, Middle Eastern ney flute and zurna, Yemenite rams horn/Indian conch shell, Turkish saz, African Kalimba and guitar.

Dr Kim Cunio is one of Australia's most accomplished composers and performers and was awarded an ABC Golden Manuscript Award in 2004, in recognition of his contribution to Australian composition.

He has played his unique music around the world, including performances at The Whitehouse, the Sydney 2000 Olympics, The United Nations and many International Festivals. Kim has also written a significant body of music for television and screen, principally for the ABC, which has seen him nominated for two Guild of Screen Composers Awards in recent years.

Kim has conducted and led music groups, choirs and ensembles for recordings and performances in Australia and overseas, produced a number of recordings for ABC Classics, and his work is often funded by the Australia Council for the Arts. Kim lectures at the QLD Conservatorium and is published by the ABC.
